If Women Only Knew

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Norway Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Brings you hours of misery and leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

"I would save much needless woe."

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Many residents of this vicinity endorse them.

Mrs. Georgia Thayer, Pleasant St., South Paris, Me., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills a short time ago and I can say that they helped me a great deal. My kidneys troubled me for quite a while and I was so favorably impressed with what I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box. I am well pleased with the results of their use and consequently, have no hesitation in recommending them to other kidney sufferers."

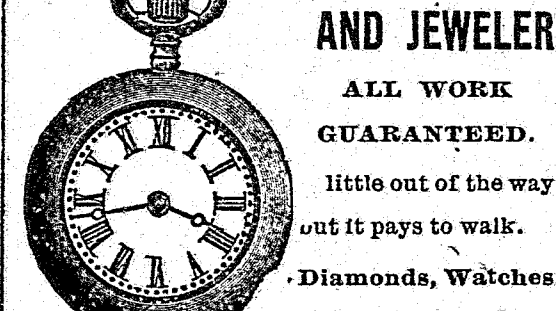

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

My Treasures.

I've been picking up the blessings all along till I live a goodly harvest. In my treasure house today.

Every step I have traveled, every path that I have known.

Has been scattered full of blessings that I count today my own.

Here a smile and there a tear; here a hand clasped, firm and true;

Now little words of comfort; now a hope that flamed anew.

All about and far before me, up the roughened mountain steep.

I have come on sweet ambitions which were mine to know and keep.

Little gems of fond affection, precious jewels of delight.

Flowery blooms of fragrant friendship gleam as brightly in my sight.

All the long, dark earthly journey I have plucked as long as I went.

Modest, gentle little blessings which have kept my soul content.

SOUTH BETHEL.

Who has heard the croak of the frogs?

C. W. Willey is painting and papering his cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Brown visited at J. B. Barnett's recently.

The Hutchins' boys have been making syrup at their farm.

C. A. Dunham, the blacksmith is boarding at W. A. Swan's.

Joseph Barnett is able to be out doors after a long siege of illness.

Mrs. W. A. Swan kindly helped Mrs. G. Grover with her housework one day.

Wm. Johnson has gone to Errol, N. H., cooking for Twitchell Bros. of Milan, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bartlett called on Mrs. George Grover. They had driven from Norway where Mr. Bartlett had purchased a workhorse.

Yes, road machine versus split log drag. Hurrah for the drag, a plow and a hoe! but keep the hard (?) workers from leaning on the hoe handle.

School began the 24th, Florence Cross, teacher. Miss Cross taught here last fall and so no change of teachers breaks the trend of studies which is commendable.

George Grover has had a severe attack of grip, but is able to go out of doors now. It has been very hard as she has only a little boy nine years old with her.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Davenport of Worcester, Mass., spent a few days with Mrs. Alice Grover at Wabab cottage.

They had visited in Norway and North Waterford. Mr. Davenport climbed the mountain near Mrs. Grover's cottage and got a view of the White Mountains, Bethel, Rumford Falls and other places of interest. They said their trip to Maine had been full of pleasure.

GILEAD.

Fred G. Odough was so unfortunate as to lose the index finger of his right hand.

Mrs. Jennie Young from Norway has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chester Gates.

Roswell Peabody and wife of Shelburne have been visiting the families of their children in town.

A fire kindled in dead grass by a spark from a passing train, greatly endangered the Newell house and the other buildings of the homestead.

The Sunshine club, "over the line" from Shelburne, met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. R. Peabody at our village. Twelve members were present. Three new members joined the club.

OTISFIELD GORE.

Ida Hill spent Saturday in Norway.

A number from here went to Harrison on night last week smelting.

Mrs. Shackford of Harrison recently visited her daughter, Mrs. Eben Brett.

C. B. Grover, L. W. Gould and Frank Shackford have been shingling D. L. Brett's barn.

Wallard and Mauley Brett have been saving their neighbors' wood with their new gasoline engine.

Mrs. Marion Brett has returned home from Norway where she has been visiting relatives and friends.

Oxford County Notes.

Greenwood, a charming hill town, with Great Industrial Possibilities, and a Growing Summer Resort.
One of the most interesting little towns of Maine is Greenwood, situated high up among the hills of Oxford county.
Although a small town of some 650 inhabitants, it is progressing steadily and with the great natural resources within the town limits will undoubtedly enjoy a substantial growth during the next decade.
The business centre, Locke's Mills village, is situated on the Grand Trunk Railroad 56 miles from Portland. The principal industry is the big spool plant of the E. L. Tibbitts Spool Co., which employs a large number of people.
There are several well conducted stores and the village contains many well kept residences. During the past few years many improvements have been made, a fire protection system has been installed, a fine new school building erected and many other things done to beautify and improve the village. Besides the main village at Locke's Mills there is another little village in the south section of the town known as Greenwood City, which was formerly the centre of business before the railroad was built.
As a summer resort Greenwood is a town of great possibilities. The town is cut up by hills and mountains and within the limits are no less than eight beautiful little lakes which must become popular resorts in the near future.
Locke's Mills village is situated on the Alder River, which is formed by the outlet of South and Round Ponds and North Pond in Woodstock. These lakes are so connected that a boat may easily pass between them all and also down the river to the village. Several summer homes have already been built along the shores and others will undoubtedly follow.
Besides South and Round Ponds in the north section near the village, are Indian, Sheepskin, Twitchell, Overset, Hicks and Mud Pond, the last two lying in the south section near Greenwood City.
These ponds are becoming better known every year to the tourists and sportsmen and summer cottages are being built each season. Greenwood contains several high mountains. Mount Abram probably being one of the highest in Central Oxford. Greenwood Ice Caves, Rocky Dundy, Whitman and Bacon Falls on the Little Androscoggin are natural wonders which few towns can equal.
Altogether Greenwood is a town of great possibilities. While too much broken by mountains and lakes to be a good farming town, its possibilities in other lines fully make up the balance.
The town is heavily wooded and many saw mills in different sections of the town are doing a good business. The town has a good school system, annually appropriating more money for this purpose than many of the larger towns of the county. It is making gradual and steady improvements on the town highways and these progressive steps must bring more prosperity in a few years.
Oxford county towns are fast waking up to the possibilities in their midst and in the march towards progress and prosperity the good old town of Greenwood will not be left behind.—[Industrial Journal]

"Mr. you go, Mr. Lingerlong? It's only 10 o'clock. I thought it was 12!"
"There's one good thing about your neatly set."

"I was telling Mr. Smidkin the other day, Mrs. Bumbley, that you'd want to called."

"So glad to have met you, Mrs. Batter-

Mending Torn Shirtrwaists.
Probably every woman has had a favorite shirtwaist tear around the neck, where it could not be mended without showing.
Such a waist may be mended as follows: First sew the tears, remove the neck band and cuffs and add a Dutch collar and turn back cuffs of heavy white linen with button-holed edges.
The wide collar covered the mended places very effectively. Collar and cuffs of any preferred color could be used.
One often finds just the piece needed in the piece bag.

Which nation is the worst "drug fiend"
in the world? The impulse is to say China. But, according to Hamilton
Wright, the federal opium commissioner, the people of the United States "consume more opium than China or any other nation." We use, it is said, 500, 000 pounds annual and not the hundredth part of this is prescribed by physicians and legally dispensed by the druggists.

Croup Conquered.
Every Mother Should Read and Remember
This.
In any home where a child has a tendency to croup, a bottle of HYOMEL (pronounce it High-o-mel) should be kept constantly on hand.
A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time.
The cure to be pursued is plain.
Send for your doctor at once, and in the meantime drop 30 drops of HYOMEL into a bowl of boiling water, and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth, so that only the air filled with Hyomel vapor is breathed.
This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and much of the crying children about you to it that HYOMEL is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.
A 50c bottle of HYOMEL is all you need in treating croup. This is known in all drug stores as Extra Bottle Hyo-mel Inhalant. Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell it. Breathe the HYOMEL is guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup, sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds,
or money back.
To break up a cold in a few minutes
try this: Pour a teaspoonful of Hyomel into a bowl of boiling water, put towel over head and bowl, and breathe the soothing, healing vapor that arises. It makes your head feel clear in two minutes. It is pleasant to use. Free trial sample of HYOMEL can be obtained by writing Booth's Hyomel Co., Buffalo, N. Y. 16-18

When Poaching Eggs.
Add a little vinegar to the water in which you poach eggs, to prevent the whites from spreading. Breaking each one into a cup about a quarter of an hour before it is to be cooked will also help.

understand why.

A Few Observations upon the Tricks This Unseasonably Spring Has Played upon Us.

Speaking of the weather we would propound a query or, more to the point, several of them. As a general introduction, is it on record or in the recollection of the oldest reader of the ADVERTISER when such a phenomenal and radical change of weather conditions ever came to pass before. Up to and including Sunday, April 23d, the weather had been consistently, obdurately cold, raw, disagreeable, snow in abundance in all directions. A few venturesome robins had invaded this section. Aside from that, signs of an early spring were hardly to be seen. Then, on Monday, April 24th, a miracle occurred. In forty-eight hours behold a miracle! From the ragged edge of winter we pass to the climate of early summer; the bull frox from the nearby marsh pipes his cheery salutation to the evening stars, the winged swallow darts hither and thither in search of food, snow and ice have disappeared as though wafted away by the magic of a fairy wand, gaily painted butterflies are upon the wing and dainty spring flowers are sought and found in field and forest.

But more remarkable still, and this leads to our question is the appearance on April 26th of a firefly apparently as much at home and emitting his tiny glow of light as though it were the proper thing to display in April instead of late June as we are in the habit of expecting. Simultaneously with the appearance of Mr. Firefly along comes Mr. June Bug with a louder buzz than usual and with the same rough crawling legs that give you a shiver of disgust when he goes to root upon your neck.

Mr. Mosquito trains along, presenting a good long bill for payment, said payment to be made in good red corpuscles of blood drawn from the victim's veins. He is fierce looking, more blood thirsty, pertinacious and generally disagreeable than ever or you imagine so. Next to come stepping along is long-legs lofty, with an air of surprise to find himself out so early in the season but determined to make the best of it.

Now will some of your good readers tell us of a season when such miracles as this came to pass? Is the order of nature to be transformed and in the process of evolution of which so much is said, to evolve a frost proof mosquito, a winter lightning bug, an all season grasshopper or have we been dreaming and these phenomena are an annual occurrence. Somebody please come to the rescue and relieve the surprise of a very much disturbed mind.

Mrs. Susie Whitman has gone to Norway to work.

Allan Cole is at West Paris working as section hand on the G. T. railroad.

Weather conditions ideal. The contrast between the cold, raw weather of a week ago and the present is remarkable. Unexpected but all the more agreeable for that reason. We had a snow storm and another taste of winter, Wednesday.

Frank Morgan is busy grafting for different people in this locality. Martin Higgins also finds plenty to do in this line. The demand for this kind of work is far in excess of the supply every year as farmers are awaking to the necessity of pushing along the grafting of native trees.

An evangelist by name of Marrye, hailing, your correspondent understands, originally from San Francisco descended upon this place Sunday and preached at the local church. At one time a street preacher in New York City, Mr. Marrye has in the past few years been over a large part of the United States usually afoot, preaching in diverse and sundry places. With the exception of about five hundred miles by rail he has walked from San Francisco to Maine preaching the Gospel constantly, at one time among the Mormons of Utah, again in the mining camps of Colorado, then to farmers in the middle west. His has been in many ways an interesting experience.

The hall building known as Grange Hall, but which is owned jointly by Bear Mountain Grange, the Universalist church and the town of Waterford, has been thoroughly painted two coats of white lead, and presents a very "spick and span" appearance.

Our three lumber mills are now in brisk operation and the streets are lined in many directions with heavy pine planks and boards, immense piles of box-boards, staves and spool strips, stacked up for seasoning. Hapgood & Willard are making more than the usual supply of staves and heading for apple barrels this year, in anticipation of a large fruit crop.

Fryeburg's Centennial.

Hurley, South Dakota, April, 1911.
EDITOR ADVERTISER: In your issue of April 7th, your Fryeburg correspondent tells about a book sale, the Southern Memorial and the Centennial celebration of Aug. 20, 1863. It was my good fortune to be present on that memorable occasion, and many of the events that transpired are as fresh in my memory as though it were but yesterday.
Dr. Towle was the master of the day, and how grand he looked to my youthful eyes as with a brilliant sash and mounted on a prancing horse he proudly led the grand procession through the streets and to the top of Pine Hill where the speaking was to take place. I remember the speakers' stand, gayly decorated with flags and bunting, and the multitude of upturned faces of those who came to listen to the music and the speaking, and to have a share in the pleasure of that grand centennial day, and duly impressed upon the tablet of my mind.
I can see the handsome, manly form of Samuel Southard, as with graceful gestures and earnest, eloquent words he told the story of Fryeburg's 100 years of progress. That was I think, his last visit to his native town for in less than a year from that eventful day he gave his life to save his country's flag, and was buried, if at all, in a soldier's unknown grave on the bloody battlefield of the Wilderness. Of him it may be said, as well as of a host of others of our soldier dead:

"The muffled drums" sad roll has 'e'at.
The soldiers' last tattoo.
No more on life's battle shall meet
That brave and fallen foe.
On fame's eternal camping ground,
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead."

I remember of but two interruptions to the days program. The first came at about the close of Mr. Southard's address, in the form of a heavy thunder shower. The meeting was adjourned to the Congregational meeting-house, and the crowd, throwing all dignity to the winds, rushed swiftly down the hillside to the shelter of the village homes. As soon as the shower was over the crowd gathered at the church, where John A. Andrews, the grand old war governor of Massachusetts gave the best and most eloquent and patriotic address that I ever listened to.

The fervent and earnest words of the speaker were too much for a certain young man in the audience. He was a bright, well educated young man, of fine form and feature, but as a boy he made one great mistake, his father was a moderate drinker and the boy, like many another lad, tried to follow in his father's footsteps and failing, became addicted to over-indulgence in bad "Old New England rum," better known at that time as "rot gut," and rightly named. In politics he was what was known in those days when our country was fighting for its very life, as a Copperhead. On this occasion his brain, muddled by too free use of his favorite stimulant, and in the midst of the address he arose from his seat in one of the wing pews near the pulpit, near where the speaker stood, and with all the dignity at his command, walked down the center aisle to the hall. Once outside his tongue began to wag but he was taken in hand by the constable and told to either shut up or be locked up. He chose to shut up and quietly departed.

This spectacular display and the thunder shower were not down on the program, but each helped in a measure to deepen and make more lasting upon my memory the doings of that memorable day. Take it all in all it was one of the red letter days of the history of my town, and the pleasant memories of which will not be forgotten while life and reason last.

WEST STONEHAM.

A Forest Fire.

Quite a scare late Wednesday when the fire broke out on the James Adams Adams place and as it happened about every man in the neighborhood was away it looked as though there might be a great deal of damage done but by the timely use of the telephone help was summoned who responded quickly and 17 men were sent from the east part of the town, besides some from North Lovell, and the fire was soon under control. I understand it burnt over a portion of the J. Adams place now owned by Benson, Montaine, and then over a large part of the old Capt. Ephraim McKee place and came very near burning Uncle Jim McAllister's buildings, who was away at the time, and but for timely aid of some of the neighbors his building must have been consumed. It has been rumored that the fire got started by burning a brush pile.

Dennie Adams has a very sick horse. H. B. McKee's mare has a nice colt. H. B. McKee sold his three seated carriage to Oidin McAllister of West Lovell.

Beryl McKee came home last Friday accompanied by her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Payson McAllister.

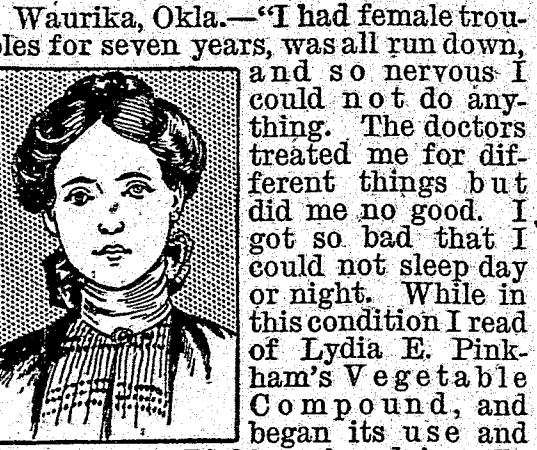

Eva Crouse of Stow is stopping with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Andrews, and attending school.

School commenced Apr. 24, under the instruction of Nellie Gustin of Fryeburg. Who is boarding at N. H. Andrews.

Guests at Mrs. N. H. Sawyer's last Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Richards of East Stoneham and Oidin McAllister and son, Carroll of West Lovell.

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and was cured."

Wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."

Mrs. S. B. S. Waurika, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.
Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help."

I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life.

"My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."

Mrs. MARI JANETTE BATES, Box 104, Huntington, Mass.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

Seaweeds.
Seaweeds do not obtain nourishment from the soil at the bottom of the sea, but from the matter contained in sea water.

Hiss of the Arc Light.
When an electric arc light hisses the carbon, melted from one of the rods, is actually boiling in the little crater formed in the end of the rod. The superheated liquid, with blinding flashes of light, moves and jumps about very much as water does on beginning to boil.

The Centipede in China.
An exceedingly poisonous variety of centipede is found throughout China in great numbers under old buildings or old logs. The bite is extremely painful and in children sometimes fatal.

The Snow Leopard.
In the highlands of central Asia lives the snow leopard, which never descends below the snow line of the mountains. Its color is a gray, inclining to buff. A few large dark spots show about the lower parts and a number of smaller ones congregate about the head and the neck. The back and the sides are marked with faded looking brown rings or rosettes. The comparatively enormous tail of the animal is fully as long as its body.

He Had Learned It.
"I heard a good story the other day," began the groceryman, "about a certain politician."

"That will do," interrupted the disappointed office seeker. "In the first place, there are no certain politicians."

A lively little blaze got started Monday forenoon, Apr. 24th at the corn shop which bid fair to do considerable damage, but owing to the prompt action of the fire department, resulted in but small loss. The fire got started in the field, north of the factory, and the wind swept towards the building rapidly. Bill's cottage narrowly escaped burning and part of the horse sheds were destroyed. The citizens are congratulating themselves that the factory was saved for its loss would have been a severe blow to the town.

Modern Ghosts or "It Was Said."

It is not often now-a-days you hear houses are haunted and then it is told as a joke or in memory of olden times when it was no unknown thing to have haunted houses.

But even in my day, I remember people who had some faith in ghosts and there were a few old houses in town that had reputations as being haunted.

One was an old weather-beaten, neglected house where no one had lived for many years and it was gradually crumbling down. Hardly a whole pane of glass was left in its windows, and the roof had fallen in and it was considered unsafe to walk on some of the floors for fear of breaking through into the cellar.

Altogether it seemed a very desolate and undesirable spot for a ghost to stay in the musty, empty rooms which were even deserted by mice, yet there was a long middle room that was in fairly good condition and "it was said" men met here nights in this room to gamble.

I remember how it looked (I wasn't one of the gamblers) with its big fireplace and woodwork painted dark red, its many doors leading to all parts of the house. Surely the old house was haunted when gathered around by a dim light and the group of gamblers shuffling the cards. If a ghost ever appeared it would have been a good time to have walked in on one of these gatherings some night.

It would have been like the regulation ghost in the regulation story to have opened with unseen hands one of the dismal doors and come shuffling along toward the group gathered around to have scattered the cards as if a whirlwind had suddenly.

Or when there was sickness as each gambler was contemplating his chances on the "pile," a voice should have been distinctly heard coming from no one knew where—a voice speaking slowly and solemnly words of teaching and warning, and yet compelling the hearers to listen although their hearts were almost standing still with fear and they dared not move hand or foot till it ceased, when all leaped at once for the door and never stopped running till they reached home.

Each man declaring, (as they could never agree where the voice came from) that it sounded in his own breast. Or the ghost might have been an old one that chanced to go to sleep on a branch of the apple tree close by the broken window, and suddenly waking up gave a loud hoot which echoed through and through the empty house till every room called out who! who! who! wh, who!!! which sent the gamblers off in double quick order.

But none of these ever happened, and we know of or if they did it was never told. However much mankind would wish a quick retribution for evil, a swift blow for blow, Providence works in a different manner.

The gamblers, "it is said," played on undisturbed in the haunted house and no harm befell them either from ghosts or goblins. All the evil spirits there, were brought in by bottle.

In time the old house was torn down and another built on the same spot, thus ghosts and gamblers disappeared together. That is, "it is said" they disappeared but in fact, as no one can really swear that he ever saw either one in the house it is hardly truthful to affirm that they disappeared.

For the gamblers were after all as much conquered victors as the ghosts and unless you were in the "ring" with either one you could not be sure about them.

DO GHOSTS HAUNT SWAMPS?

No, never. Its foolish to fear a fanciful evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bays, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroyed and cast out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy. Only 50c at The Noyes Drug Store. 18-21

And She Got the Sneezes.

A noted Southern music-teacher was giving a lesson to a talented but careless pupil, and was rapidly becoming impatient with her. Finally, at a most complicated part of a difficult piece, the pupil lifted her hands from the piano and made a wild dash for her handkerchief to stop a threatened sneeze.

It was the last straw.

"Oh," exclaimed the teacher, thrusting her own handkerchief at her, "was there ever such a girl! You lose your position, you lose your fingering, you lose your handkerchief—you lose everything!"

"Oh, no," responded the pupil, with a twinkle, "and everything! I haven't lost my temper."—[Youth's Companion.

Colds May be Avoided.

By those who are fortunate enough to always breathe pure air, and never get run down by overwork or exposure. Even these lucky people do not always escape the contagious colds which at certain seasons prevail to such an extent as to be almost epidemic. It is wise to be prepared for troubles of this nature in our climate, and the one all-important thing is to have at hand a safe, efficient and reliable remedy to ward off the trouble and danger of such an attack.

For sixty years, "L. F." Atwood's medicine has been a household remedy for emergencies of this kind. It starts up the liver and bowels, prevents congestion, and restores the functions to their normal condition. If you have never used it, get a bottle from your dealer, or write for a free sample to the "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.
